The Honors Academy is an exam-based admission program at Fitchburg High School where admitted students become accustomed to a demanding workload and high expectations in preparation for college and lifelong learning. Our students are taught to think for themselves and challenge assumptions.

Active participation in school and community enables our students to see how they fit into the world around them even as we provide them with the tools to do so. Rigorous coursework, lively class discussions, a technology enriched environment, and independent reading and writing assignments all contribute to this goal.

The Honors Academy curriculum emphasizes analytical reading, writing, research, and strong math and science skills, with students taking four credits each semester (all Honors Academy courses are ranked Honors or Pre-AP). Students will take at least four of our sixteen AP © courses over the four years as an Honors Academy student, and some will qualify to attend courses at Fitchburg State University through dual enrollment and a unique agreement with FSU. Although the Honors Academy has rigorous course requirements, students also have flexibility in their selections. With the help of their advisors and dedicated guidance counselor, students can put together an individualized course of study that will prepare them well for future success.
